

In April, 2017 Apprehensions at the US-Mexico boarder reached historic lows. This downward trend began when President Trump was elected.